Werner Enterprises celebrates Driver Appreciation Week

OMAHA, Neb. – During November 1-7, premier transportation and global logistics provider, Werner Enterprises will honor its 11,567 driver associates by hosting events at its global headquarters and facilities throughout the country.

The company kicked off Driver Appreciation Week by offering baked goods, lunches and giveaway items to driver associates at locations throughout the country, each day of the week. Each day, events are sponsored by different departments throughout the company. The showing of gratitude will continue on Friday, November 6, when Werner Enterprises hosts a celebratory cookout at its global headquarters to conclude Driver Appreciation Week.

“Our driver associates are the lifeblood of our company and we are so proud to spend this week honoring them,” Derek Leathers, chief operating officer of Werner Enterprises and president of Werner Global Logistics said. “Their hard work and dedication has allowed our company to grow into a best-in-class transportation provider and it is important to give them the respect they deserve.”

To celebrate the company’s driver associates, office associates and their families have also written personalized cards thanking the drivers for their safe, courteous and efficient driving.

Driver Appreciation Week is also a national event, celebrated by many organizations throughout the country honoring our nation’s truck drivers who move 69 percent of all U.S. freight tonnage.
